Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 11 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Windy with showers heavy at times.

Today:
A day of sunny spells and scattered showers. These showers heaviest and most frequent over Devon and Cornwall at first, before further east of the region later. Windy, with the odd rumble of thunder possible. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers gradually easing through the evening and overnight with clear spells becoming more widespread by the early hours. Winds easing too, becoming light by dawn. Rather chilly in the west. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another day of sunshine and showers, these showers heavy and potentially thundery at times. Persistent heavy rain arriving from the south affecting the west of the region during the evening. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Showers in Devon and Cornwall, whilst largely clear elsewhere on Thursday. Scattered showers after a clear and dry morning on Friday. Rain followed by showers and sunny spells on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.